

BROADCAST AWARDS JUDGES

Chief Judge Penny Hynam, (Barbados) began her career at the CBC and Telefilm Canada, co-founded Mobius Productions and worked as script supervisor on 40+ TV and movie sets in Canada, Europe and the U.S. After re-settling in Barbados, she worked as Director of the National Trust, Senior Producer for the Caribbean Media Corporation's coverage of the 2008 Beijing Summer Olympics and was founding President of the Barbados Film and Video Association.

Judge Andrea Allan has had a long association with film and television. After many years as an actress, based in London, England, she relocated to Barbados and moved behind the camera. She produces Live Up: The Show, now in its sixth season, for the Caribbean Broadcast Media Partnership and the Caribbean Media Corporation and was Senior Producer for CMC's coverage of the Beijing Olympics 2008 for the Caribbean region.

Judge Borger Breeveld is a Surinamese actor and founder of Film Institute Paramaribo. He started at the Dutch Film Academy in Amsterdam and the Rumanian National Cinematographic Center in Bucharest before specialising in Television directing and producing at the Dutch Television Foundation. He also trained at the Belgian Radio and Television Network in Brussels. He has produced several documentaries over the years.

Judge Alma Mockyen has been involved in communication media development for several decades in her native Jamaica, and has been widely recognised for her expertise and contribution in the field of communication media. She is a broadcast journalism trainer and radio personality who was part of the establishment of distance education at the University of the West Indies. A dancer, she is also a noted actress, published poet and author.
